We would appreciate it if you would mark “yes” or “no” at the left of each question and fax it to Wendy Morris at (434) 982-4766 or send a short e-mail (wendymorris@virginia.edu) with your answers to these questions. Please include a short narrative with information about any question for which the answer is “yes.”

- 1) Have you conducted any research about single or unmarried people? If yes, please describe your past research.
- 2) Are you currently conducting or planning to conduct research on single or unmarried people in the future? If yes, please describe your current or planned research.
- 3) Have you ever taught or are you planning to teach any classes or seminars that focus exclusively or even partially on single or unmarried people? If yes, please describe these classes.

Please send a syllabus or portion of syllabus which may be relevant.

Also, please describe materials used by you or the students in the class.

- 4) Have you written or published any academic articles or papers about one or more issues affecting single or unmarried people? If yes, please let us know if it is a published paper or an unpublished manuscript and the nature of the paper.
- 5) Would you be willing to let us post the information you have provided on a website sponsored by the American Association for Single People?
- 6) Would you be interested in receiving information about any future academic conferences which focus on issues affecting single and unmarried people?
- 7) Do you know anyone who is currently conducting research or teaching classes focusing on singles or has done so in the past? If yes, please give us their name and contact information so we may get in touch with them.
