

ACTION REQUEST – Focus on Election 2004

None of the announced candidates for President, of any political party, has specifically reached out to single or unmarried voters.

Some 35% of all voters in the 2000 presidential election were unmarried.

The 2004 candidates have done outreach to women, seniors, families, racial and ethnic minorities, students, gays and lesbians. What about us?

Please contact the campaign headquarters of the announced candidates and ask WHY -- why we, as unmarried Americans, should vote for them. If you get a response, please let us know. A fax would probably be better than an e-mail, but try all methods of contact.

Here is a report from one member of Unmarried America:

On August 26, I emailed the campaigns of John Kerry, Joe Lieberman, Howard Dean, and Dick Gephardt, and I asked them the following:

Just like all of the other candidates, I have noticed that you are reaching out to certain groups, like families, seniors, gays, lesbians, and minorities. I am part of another demographic-unmarried America. I would like to know why we, as unmarried Americans, should vote for you in 2004.

A week later, I emailed the remaining candidates and asked them the same thing. I am sorry to say that I have gotten no responses from any of the candidates to this question. I will email Wesley Clark's campaign today to ask him this same question. My next update to you on this will be on November 1.
